Loyalty

We're loyal to you, Dundee High,—
We're ever true blue, Dundee High,—
We'll back you to stand
'Gainst the best in the land,
For we know you have sand, Dundee High, Rah! Rah!
Hang on to that ball Dundee High,—
We're backing you all Dundee High;—
Our team is our fame protector,
On! boys, for we expect a vict'ry from you, Dundee High!
Che-he! Che-ha! Che-ha-ha-ha!
Che-he! Che-ha! Che-ha-ha-ha!
Fling out that dear old flag of Black and Maroon
Lead on your sons and daughters, we shall be soon,
Like men of old, on giants placing reliance
Shouting defiance—
Os-key-wow-wow!
Amid the broad green fields that nourish our land
For honest Labor and for Learning we stand,
And unto thee we pledge out heart and hand,
Dear Alma Mater Dundee High.
Os-key-wow-wow! Skinney-wow-wow!
Dundee, wow!

The Senior Class History

I. Ancient History

In the dark dim past we sixty-two uneducated, but ambitious children flocked to the doors of the Palace of Learning. President Melvin Ahrens with his assistants, Vice-President Paul Griffith, Treasurer Gladys Smith, and Ruth Miller, Secretary,—led us through our long struggle, which was broken only by parties, athletics, "rough-neck" day, and examinations.

II. Medievial History

Now we Sophomores! Some of our members we have left behind and our numbers are reduced to forty-seven. We were to be under the leadership of President Ruth Miller, Vice-President Marie Henning, Treasurer Robert Slutz, and Secretary Lucille Nolte. In athletics we have been fairly successful, the girls taking second, and the boys third place in the interclass tournaments.

We pass examinations successfully and about to take a flying leap into our Junior year,—the year of opportunities.

III. Modern History

We, the class, having learned that, "Where there's a will there's a way," during the first few days of school, determined to make this our best year. Upon Harold Kuettner we placed the honor of guiding us. Frank Bingham as Vice-President, Harriet Finn as Secretary, and Majorie Dwyer as Treasurer aided the president in every possible manner. Throughout the year in our "annual" work, athletics, studies, parties and "stunt day," we grew stronger and stronger by developing within us a fine class spirit.

As we look back upon this year it will always have a tender spot in our hearts, and leave with us happy memories.

IV. Current History

Seniors! The longed for goal. We passed out of the old Palace of Learning and first, then football, then basketball, and lastly the most memorable thing in our school into the new. A palace modern, well-lighted, and beautiful. We started upon this last stretch of our journey. President Frank Bingham, Vice-President Glenn Ehlert, Treasurer Florence Svoboda, and Secretary Ruth Miller. A picnic took our attention life,—the District Tournament in our new High School. We are now largely looking forward to graduation and the time of "no exams."

FISHING FOR BULLFROGS

"Isn't this a wonderful morning? I'm glad you thought of going fishing. I probably would have stayed at home to sleep!" Said Fan enthusiastically.

"Don't give me the credit. I just happened to hear Harold say he bet they'd bite this morning, so I jumped at the idea," answered Helen.

"You ought to see the squirmy worms Vern dug for me this morning, I've a whole can of them!"

"Well just so you don't get them mixed up with those tarts you said your mother put in your basket."

"Say," sassed Esther, "who said you are going to get any?"

Helen happened to see a good stone to sit on and yelled out, "Lets stay here; I just saw a fish pop his head out!"

"Yes, I know you want to stop here, I saw that stone too," teased Nita.

"Remember that same stone the night our Freshie picnic when Puffy fell in?"

Fan happened to remember and laughed her answer, "Yes, and they had to build a fire to dry him off?"

"Weren't the kids funny the first year? It seems like it takes four years just to get acquainted and we've only got one year left!"

"Who was our President in our Freshman year? Ye gods! I can't remember anything!"

"Mike Melahn!—Don't you remember we had just about two meetings and he couldn't even manage them?"

"Miss Brookmam was our class adviser, wasn't she? Didn't we love her though."

"When we were Sophomores remember there wasn't room enough for us all in the assembly and we poor kids had to suffer, who had the names beginning with the last letter in the alphabet."

"Yep, I remember."

"We put on a play when we entertained the Sophomores. Some Play."

"What was it?"

"Honest Peggy.—Where is your memory? If Miss Andrews were here she'd say your forgetter excelled your memory."

"We had Sutfin for President, didn't we?"

"Remember Rough Neck Day when we had our winning orchestra number and Joe played the Jazzwhistle? and Schmidt led, that was Miss Holt's idea."

"But kids we had the most fun in our Junior year, didn't we."

"Yes, and the most work too."

"We started out the year right, with the picnic we had—when the boys came down after foot-ball practice for the eats and then we filled up three rows in the Crystal,—I think so anyway."

"Well, that was our idea."

"Then our annual,—best one out yet, wasn't it?"

"Say kids, remember the day we elected annual staff members,—how the girls pulled against the boys? Pete got the job as editor in chief. That's something I wouldn't take if it were given to me!"

"And don't forget the Class Play. 'Hello-Stasia, lazy hussy'! 'Stasia.'!!"

"Hush up—Vivian, just you wait till next year. We'll show them our best then."

"We kept the kids from getting starved all the year, didn't we, by selling candy at noon? "There was profit in it too!"

"Wasn't it a grand and glorious feeling when we made Pete cheer leader? That was our first success."

"Oh yes of course for you, Esther."

"Say!" "Can it! Ooh I'm hungry, let's eat!!"

"Gee Gosh! kids. I've got a bite!!!

Sophomore Class History

"Lettuce, lettuce, head lettuce for sale," thus rang through the narrow halls of the old school one bright September morning in the year of our Lord 1921. There, in the Freshman assembly, before the astonished and admiring gaze of the Juniors and Seniors, stood Miss Franckle, busily engaged in arranging the unusually large crate of head lettuce delivered that morning by Miss Bell. Letuuce of all kinds and varieties; Lettuce West and Eeast Dundesia, lettuce especially green genus Algonquensia, lettuce crisp and crackling from Seaville. Sheltered and protected, and carefully guarded from swelling, the lettuce heads enjoyed a year of quiet growth, disturbed only by a careful looking over by the Sophomores at a specially arranged lettuce head party.

Moving day: they are carting us over to the new high school. Plenty of room in which to spread our leaves, and we do it with vengeance. There is a new vender at the stand, head gardener, Mr. Schlaifer, shouting his wares in an ever increasing crescendo. Lettuce leaves are used for the dramatic salad; the orchestra and the Glee Club salads are interlarded with us to add color. Mr. Stenger, too, finds his way to the crate to pick some heads for his athletic salad.

There is a rumor abroad that our heads are getting too big, but we know better.

In feeling over the crate, the best heads are found to be: Gordon Baldwin, chief head; Virginia Lusted, next best; Herbert Steege is delegated to keep track of the heads, and Neil Keegan is guardian of the cash sales.

We are a most useful lot: they use us to add spice to the football boys, and we certainly make good suppers. Lettuce heads become a favorite dish of the football teams. The Freshmen too are loud in their praises over the lettuce head party.

Lettuce heads also add spice to the basket ball season tickets. The finest dressing ever sold. And we mean to continue adding a strong lettuce head flavoring to the spice of school life.

FRESHMEN

Freshman Class History

We, the class of '26, eighty five strong, arrived, as most of our predecessors, at the portals of the High School Building. But, we will have you take notice that we were the first Freshman Class to enroll in the new Community High School. Up to date we are the largest class of Freshies that has entered the High School.

Soon the newness of our surroundings wore away and we were desirous to be recognized by our upper classmen. Under the leadership of Miss Addie Mae Bell, we were formally organized. We chose as our representatives, President Selda Brauer, Vice-President Neva Lusted, Secretary and Treasurer Albert Lueck.

On January tenth the class enjoyed their first social function. Three bob sleds were hired to take the members for a rollicking time over the snow. We journeyed to Elgin and attended the movie "East is West" at the Rialto Theater. We made our first debut in society on February ninth when we were the guests of the Sophomore Class at a Valentine Party.

Two honors particularly belong to us: first semester, we ranked next to the Seniors in scholarship, and we are the first class to enjoy a Girl's Glee Club.

As yet we have made no striking record in basket ball. We are still young and have our years before us so you will hear from us in the future.

Inspection of Building

As an institution of learning, the new Dundee Community High School located in Carpentersville, stands as a monument to the enthusiasm of the district for education. The school, itself, ranks as one of the best prep schools in the entire state and is possibly the most modern in northern Illinois.

Cafeteria

The cafeteria consists of the most modern equipment, including an electric dish-washer, potato peeler, butter cutter, bread slicer, and a battery of Clark Jewel gas ovens with the heat regulators.

Lunches are served every noon at a nominal cost, sufficient to cover the expense of preparing. Groups of girls arrange their menus and prepare them each day.

The cafeteria has seating capacity of 120 pupils. Last year, in the old building over 9,000 lunches were served but with the convenience afforded by the new cafeteria this mark already has easily been surpassed.

Superintendent Schleifer should be highly complimented for his untiring efforts put forth in obtaining and erecting the new high school.

Standing high on a bluff, facing the new Fox River Trail, the two story building overlooks the Fox River. An impressive view is obtained from the school in every direction.

A total of 14½ acres embrace the school property, a large portion of which will be converted into athletic grounds terraced on the sides and including a football field, a baseball diamond, and tennis courts. This proposed plan is expected to establish one of the best athletic fields for high schools in the entire state.

Though only recently completed, work has already been started in the laying out of walks and driveways.

Landscape artists have arranged to install shrubbery and plants about the grounds or "campus," with the idea of making it a real beauty spot.

The buildings and grounds were secured at a cost of $310,000. The sum of $200,000 was raised by bond issue with the remainder to be added by general taxation in the community, including East and West Wundee, Carpentersville, and Algonquin. A four year financial program has been adopted by the school board, which expects to raise $38,000 the first year, $28,000 the second, $18,000 the third, and $8,000 the fourth. In the fifth year it is hoped to again reduce the amount of taxation to normal.

The school, built of brick, pas planned by J. C.Llewellyn & Co., Chicago, and represents the very latest in high school buildings. The building is 226 feet in length and 186 feet in width.

The community idea is well and capably arranged, from the large and spacious auditorium and stage to the club room with its smaller stage for musicales, plays, lectures, and the clubs and societies of the various community centers.

A committee composed of clubs and societies of the community will equip and furnish the club room, where visitors can meet with various bodies. The club room represents ease and comfort, a fireplace and settees adding considerable to it. Every detail in intending to meet every phase of the word "community" has been met and is not only a structure for pupils but for the grownups as well.

The building is absolutely fireproof, with terrace floors in the hallways and mastic floors in the school rooms.

The school board, in arranging the imposing structure, is to be congratulated, not only in the building and equipment, but its ability to look into the future and take care of the coming growth. An entire wing, devoted to the needs of future generations of children, was planned and built. The second floor of this wing includes seven classrooms, which will not be furnished until necessary.

The auditorium, the vocational department, gymnasium, swimming pool, and cafeteria are features in themselves.

As one enters the school, he or she is confronted by a massive fireplace, surrounded by comfortable lounging settees. The fireplace is a work of art and practicability together.

On the first floor, at the left, are located the library and general offices, including that of the superintendent of schools, and the school board. Each room is tastily furnished.

Then follows the sewing room with its fitting room, equipped with long mirrors. The cooking room is next. It contains a model dining room, where the girl is instructed in the art of setting a table and serving.

The cafeteria is equal to the best in any large city.

It is the intention to introduce a short course for farmers in the near future. The course, according to preliminary arrangements, will last from ten days to three weeks, in which time they will receive insthuction in the effort to solve the more difficult problem of the farmers.

The office of the principal, rest rooms for men and women instructors, book store, the girl's physical training instructor's rooms, and the girl's shower and locker rooms. Rooms for special instructors, music, penmanship and nurses' are also located on the first floor, together with the office of the physical director for the boys and their shower and locker rooms.

The west front of the second floor is set apart for the department of Physics and Chemistry. A Physics laboratory with modern tables equipped with electricity and gass will accomodate twenty-four students at one time; a Chemistry laboratory with the most modern equipped tables—provided with running water and gas; two stock rooms and a modern lecture room for experimental work have been provided.

A large study hall, with a seating capacity of two hundred and fifty pupils, is located in the south wing on the second floor. In the west wing is the physics department, including laboratory, apparatus room, drak room for investigation and development of photographs. A complete chemistry department is adjacent.

In the north wing is the commercial department, the bookkeeping room and the school bank, where committees of four handle the banking business of the school for six week periods. Over fifteen thousand dollars in cash and upwards of three hundred and fifty various school accounts were handled last year. The typewriting and dictation rooms complete the commercial department.

Recitation rooms for foreign languages, English, mathematics and history are also in this section of the building.

The east wing, as has been previously told, contains seven rooms to be utilized in future growth. The roms are sufficient in size that the high school could double its attendance and take care of the pupils with ease.

Heat is supplied by two Kewanee boilers of the smokeless type. The ventilating system is unexcelled, two large fans dlivering thirty-five thousand cubic feet of air per minute throughout the building. A fresh supply of air rushes through the ventilators every three minutes.

In erecting the structure, an extra room has been provided, which can be fitted for engines to generate the school's own light and power. A vegetable store room is also located in the basement, where at the present time eighty bushels of potatoes, to be used or consumed by pupils in the cafeteria, are stored.

One of the main features of the school is the excellent way in which the problem of securing sufficient light was worked out. Every portion of the building is made as light as day through the installation of large windows. The windows can be raised and lowered with ease and so arranged that pupils escape draught even though opened wide.

The complete faculty force consists of the following:

STORY OF THE PLAY

Tom Blake, American inventor of a patent diving-suit has been defrauded of his patent rights by J. Winner Luce. Luce, to do this, has made use of Jimmy Squabs, a master diver; and Cortlandt Van Prissy to whom he has betrothed his daughter, Madeline whom Blake loves.

Blake left for Signapore and engaged Pedro and his Malays to go with him to the Island of Hocus Pocus, one of the Phillipine group. Blake knows that a treasurer-ship of great value lies on the bottom somewhere about Hocus Pocus, but Luce has taken from him the chart showing the location. Blake is disguised as a pirate and known as Benevente.

Luce with his daughter and her chaperone arrives at Hocus Pocus in Prissy's yacht but is ship-wrecked by the pirates. At about the same time the U. C. Cruiser Oklahoma, in charge of Commander Boomday arrives. After various adventures, Luce is forced to hand the chart to Blake who proves his patent rights to the diving-suit and all ends happily.

BOOKWORMS

Bookworms

The "Bookworms" developed from what was formerly the "Girls Reading Club," which was organized last year under the direction of Miss Pearl Brown. We met every Sunday evening at the home of one of the members and discussed worth while books.

Many of the members of the Reading Club were Seniors and so new members took their places this year. Grace Hall, Barbara Rowe, and Emma Benson were the only members left after the graduates had left. We voted in new members which were as follows: Linita Foelschow, Julia Western, Eleanor Dunton, Katherine Schmeltz, Florence Bouroughs, Mabel Stewart, Irene Bopp, and Marie Henning.

At the next meeting when we were assembled we elected the following officers and chose the permanent name "Bookworms."

Lineta Foelschow	President
Barbara Rowe	Vice President
Eleanor Dunton	Secretary
Julia Western	Treasurer

In 1922, Miss Brown because of other pressing activities, was relieved of the leadership by Mr. F. H. Hall who gladly carried on the good work she had started.

We expect to do something in the near future for the good of the Community by introducing readers and lecturers.

The O. Henry Club

The king is dead! Long live the king.

The year 1922-1923 was to be a crucial one in the history of the Club. It was with a sense of suspense that the few remaining members of the Club faced the task of the reorganization after losing ten of their most active members by graduation.

Resolutely the new president, Harold Hoxie, assisted by the rest of the members, set to work to recruit the new membership. One by one they were added to fill out the thinned ranks of the organization. The fine spirit of intimate fellowship, so characteristic of the old "bunch," was caught up by the new recruits with enthusiasm. It soon became evident that the Club tradition would not only be maintained but even surpassed. There was also struck a note of higher seriousness in regard to the strictly literary work of the Club. More books were read, and a keener mood of appreciation was developed. "The Gentle Grafter" and "Business Before Pleasure," by O. Henry; "Bred in the Bone" by Thomas Nelson Page; "Plain Tales from the Hills" by Kipling; "Marjorie Daw and Other Stories" by Thomas Bailey Aldrich; "South Sea Tales" by Jack London, and "Luck of Roaring Camp" by Bret Harte were read and keenly appreciated.

The social life of the Club, too, was intensified by the organizing of an O. Henry Club orchestra. The picnic, the farewell party to the old members, the Christmas party to the old members, and the Fourth semi-annual O. Henry Club banquet, the largest and the most successful of its kind, with Randall Parrish in his ringing message, "The Heroism of the Commonplace," will long live in the memory of the members as the most successful social events in the history of the club.

Brief Story

In a cheap boarding house in London, we find haughty, tricky, selfish, greedy unprincipled characters living a life of meagre existence, such a life as those qualities will for ever reap.

Into their midst comes a stranger, an Utopia of life, and suddenly we find the members of Mrs. Sharp's boarding house,—those unrefined characters of life, welding for themselves a new existence, through the influence of that Stranger, who had seen and profited by the sorrows and discouragements of a lifetime.

Gradually we find haughtiness, greediness, and meagreness slipping quietly and gracefully into the background, and the better, more desirable qualities of their hidden inner lives presenting themselves through the ever needful presence of the Stranger in the Spirit of Christianity.

Dramatic Club

In the fall of the year, the Dramatic Club, under the leadership of Miss Alice Frankle organized itself. Its aim was to read and disucss plays and selections and thus widen the dramatic instinct. Plans were made for programs to be given in the near future.

Their first performance was a three act vaudeville. The first number was a vocal solo by Arlyne Peter, Alias Frances Sutfin. The second number a comedy sketch by the Knutt brothers, Rieke-Lindemann. They closed their program with a short one-act play, "The Ghost Story," by Booth Tarkington.

Encouraged by their first success they put on their second program on March 13 consisting of a Pantomine, "The Seven Ages of Man" and a one-act play, "The Reader."

Radio Club

The Radio Club was organized in 1921 under the leadership of Miss Pearl Brown, for the purpose of stimulating active interest in electrical sciences. The club during that year had lectures and code practice. Later they bought at a great advantage, with the aid of the board of education, sending and receiving sets from the Stoelting Co.. over which that company did much of its business. This apparatus is equipped with a crystal detector and now their next move will be to install more expensive sets for concert work.

This year the club has been under the leadership of Mr. Kribs, instructor in Auto Mechanics. There has been much interest shown in radio this year probably due to the fact that the radio telephone has been developed to such a high degree.

Girl Scouts

This is an organization which enables the girls to have the same opportunities as those offered the Boy Scouts, to become acquainted with the great out door life and to scout for its treasures,—nature's treasures. The summer offers the best opportunity for development in this line. But through the winter months First Aid is studied and merit badges earned. Every Girl Scout has taken her oath to try to do her duty to God and her country, to help others at all times, and to obey the scout laws. It is her greatest aim to live up to her oath.

Our organization was started under the leadership of Miss Strubinger about two years ago. We have enlarged our numbers since then and are now practically a full troop.

Mrs. R. W. Griffith was our Captain last year, and we had a very successful year with her. Last summer we gave a movie and made enough money to enable us to go camping for a week at Lake Geneva. Many of the girls earned merit badges while camping.

This year we have Miss Cora Lockwood as our Captain and Mrs. L. A. Goodwin, Miss Elsa Griffith and Mrs. Pearl Landis for our Lieutenants. We hope to enlarge ourselves in the near future and to earn money so that we can all go camping again this year.

GIRL SCOUTS

The Sophomore-Freshmen Party

WHEREAS, in the course of human events, it becomes necessary for one class to dissolve the bands which have connected them with each other and to assume, among the classes of the school, the separate and equal station to which the laws of posterity and of position entitle them, a decent respect to the opinions of their adviser, required that they declared the ninth of February be a night to initiate their younger sisters and brothers into the secret charms of Old St. Valentine.

If you had appeared in the corridors and the "gym" of the Community High School, upon the above fated night you would have seen troops of cherry freshmen and self pleased sophomores, all bedecked in their Sunday-best ready for the great event of the season to begin.

The chandeliers of the club room and corridors were tastefully festooned with red crepe paper symbolic of the coming of the dear Saints Day.

From the time the program began until the time for all to depart, there was not a dull minute. An athletic meet was quite enthusiastically indulged in and cleverly carried out to the great amusement of all. The oft played bunco game was of unusual interest to all. Red and white hearts, very uniquely combined, were used as score cards.

The dainty refreshments were served by the mother's committee of the class to the satisfaction of all.

After this refreshing repast, the evening entertainment was concluded by social dancing.

Therefore, be it resolved, that we, the members of the class of '26, have solemnly proclaimed and declared, that we the "Freshies," are duly grateful and appreciative for all kindness and courtesies shown to us by our gentle benefactors.

'26.

The Senior Picnic

Early in October the Senior Class journied down to Jelke's Woods for their annual picnic. Here they flung off their assumed Senior dignity and became (what they are) "kids." In this juvenile spirit they roasted their weiners and marshmallows; they played games and told "yarns." After a filling lunch, and a gay time around the fire, the class finished the happy evening by going to Elgin to a movie.

R. H. M.

Junior Picnic

On the twenty-third of September, the Juniors held a picnic at Jelke's woods. To be sure it was a feminine picnic with most of the boys at football practice. But finally we were all gathered together for a good time, bringing with us unusually large appetites.

You say, what did we eat? Everything we could possibly wish for: sandwiches, pickles, frankfurters, marshmallows and apples.

When we had finished eating, we hiked back to town in the bright moon-light. Here we enjoyed a movie at the Crystal.

After the movie the happy party soon broke up. Every one went home, but some took the longest way. Every one felt that their good time had started the year out right.

Football

WITH but three letter men back the problem confronting Coach Stenger to develop a winning combination in football was a serious one. With but two weeks to prepare, with green material, for the first game of the season with Naperville—the result was enviable.

The football spirit of Dundee was very low as shown by the squad of only thirteen that Coach Stenger had to work with.

Dundee succumbed to the strong veteran Naperville team only after a hard battle. Naperville scored three touch downs the first quarter. The handicap was too great for Dundee to overcome although they outplayed their heavier opponents. After outplaying their opponents the first half Dundee fell before the indominable fighting spirit of the Batavian's at Batavia.

In Wheaton Dundee met one of the strongest pep teams in the state. In one of the hardest fought games of the year, Sycamore defeated Dundee with a score of three to nothing. Due to a technicality call of the umpire, the touch down scored by Dundee was not allowed. After holding St. Charles' score less the first half, Dundee suffered its fifth defeat.

The first victory, Dundee won over Geneva, the team that spoiled Dundee's championship hopes of 1922. The Dundee team finally found itself and played real football outclassing Geneva in all departments of the game. In defeating Sandwich twenty-eight to nothing the team closed the season by playing the best brand of football played all year.

The outstanding players of the year were L. Puffpaff who was selected as tackle on the All Conference First Team. Clayton Krien who was given a berth at end on the Conference Second Team and M. Ahrens who was awarded the captaincy and full back position on the Conference Second Team.

Basket Ball 1922-23

Dundee enjoyed an average season in basket ball. Ten out of fifteen games were won against schools the size of Dundee. Three out of the eight defeats were suffered at the hands of the Strong Elgin team. After leading the Little Seven the first half of the season, Dundee's championship hopes were blasted by the three point victory of Sycamore in the next to the last game of the season.

Three of the five Conference defeats were only by a margin of three points or less.

INDIVIDUALS

Harry Buhrow—A discovery of no small magnitude in every sense of the word.
Raymond Wagner—A valuable man for next year.
Clayton Krien—A capable leader with lots of ability.
Glenn Ehlert—A man who could cover the floor and guard opponents.
Lavern Puffpaff—A man hard to get around.
Paul Griffith—A man who developed in to a dependable player.
Jack Rath—A fast and clever player with a good basket eye.
Melvin Ahrens—A fast, clever and tireless worker.

Interclass Basketball

The boys interclass basket ball tournament started shortly after the season had opened. Teams were to play each other, thus making nine games apiece. The object of the interclass tournament was to arouse an interest among the fellows who had not played before, also to help the coaches discover promising material.

A great amount of interest was shown; and many students turned out to back their team. The Juniors proved themselves to be the best team, winning by one point from the Sophomores in the final game.

The Canoe Regatta

DID YOU ever stop to think that of all the primitive implements of the Indian, none has survived civilization in a recognizable form except his canoe? The Indians matched their skill in canoes on swift and dangerous rivers before Columbus started out to prove that the world was round. This red blooded instinct has been carried down through the ages until in May nineteen-twenty-two, the High School lads of Kane County paddle forth to Dundee in their canoes to decide their skill. The banks of the Fox were crowded with the white race ready to watch the spectacular event. With a cool, choppy wind coming from the North the race was run off. Indians representing the tribes of Mooseheart, Elgin, Aurora, St. Charles, and Dundee paddled their crafts to victory in one or more events. The sun was setting in the horizon as the canoes came down the river in the final lap of the portage race. The score was totaled and the Dundee warriors came first, closely followed by Mooseheart red men. The hand clasp was used instead of the peace-pipe as the warriors left the scene of battle to return to their tribes. The warriors that won the race for Dundee were: Chief Sandy Smith, Longtree Heartel, Push-um-Over Bingham, Blackfoot, Elhert, Paleface Johns and Short-Stump Sinclair.

Track Record of 1922

In track, it being a rather new activity of the school, we were rather successful throughout the year. The record attained was:

Interclass meet	Won by the Seniors
12 miles relay	Dundee third
West Chicago meet	Won by Dundee
Little Seven meet	Dundee second
County meet	Dundee fifth
Batavia meet	Won by Dundee

The first annual Kane County Canoe Regatta, proposed and sponsored by Dundee, was won by Dundee. This was a very unique event and was witnessed by a large crowd. The second annual regatta will be held at St. Charles this year. We hope to bring home another shield to add to our collection of trophies.

Girls' Athletics

THE physical training department for girls is now emphasized more than in previous years. The gym classes this year are the largest in number recorded in this department. Military tactics, German and Swedish gymnastics are taught. Interclass basket ball games are also played, the girl's being instructed to play according to girl's rules, instead of boy's rules as they had been playing previously. All games played with the Senior team were especially hard fought games, because, they won the tournament last year and the other teams were determined not to let them "cop" the honor this year. At present they are in the lead. If they win, it will mean hard work. Now the question is, which will be the lucky team next year? ? ? ? ?

Under the able direction of the instructor, Miss Matilde Vogt, the gymnasium classes are planning an extensive exhibition to take place the middle of May. This exhibition will include drills, dances, and apparatus work.

The District Tournament

THE Dundee Community High School, because of its new large gymnasium, was awarded the District Tournament for Northwestern Illinois by the State officials. The splendid cooperation of the townspeople made the first tournament held here a great success.

A spirit of fellowship and of good sportsmanship permeated throughout the tournament among the visiting teams.

Good, clean fast basketball gave Elgin the championship. The other teams participating were:

1. West Chicago	41
Huntley	18
2. Belvidere	19
Dundee	22
3. McHenry	13
Elburn	28
4. Woodstock	25
Elgin	39
5. Richmond	16
Hampshire	30
6. Crystal Lake	43
Harvard	20
7. Plato Center	28

Miss Brown (In chemistry): What are the physical properties of oxygen?
Clark Poole: Colorless, odorless, tasteless, and seeless.

SUGGESTIONS:

1. Do not drink moonshine.
2. If you eat onions, don't breathe it to a soul.
3. Soup was made to be seen not heard.
4. If you want a wave in your hair, bathe in the sea.
5. Don't come to school often: the teachers will never miss you.
6. Never offer gum to the teachers; they might take it.
7. Play with everything in the laboratory; the teachers love to repair the instruments and gain a more intimate knowledge of their use.
8. Always open the auditorium doors; teachers like to scold.

WHY THE TEACHERS GET GRAY-HEADED.

1. "Shall we write in ink?"
2. "Shall we write on both sides of the paper?"
3. "What did you say was the assignment for tomorrow?"
4. "I didn't understand the question."
5. "I had it all written out but I left it at home."
6. "Do you want us to hand these test papers in?"
7. "Does this note-book work go in our notebooks?"
8. "Did you say lesson for tomorrow—tomorrow is Saturday."
9. "When do we get these test papers back?"

---

10. Last and most nerve-wracking—"I forgot."

Mrs. Landis: "What is the Norman influence on English literature?"
Lorenzo Ihrke: "I can't remember, but I think I could tell if I knew."

Miss Bell: "Give a sentence with the word endurance in it."
Bessie Zadnickject: "The wounded soldier's endurance was taken care of by the doctors."

Harry Buhrow: (coming into chemistry laboratory) "My, that smells good, what is it?"
Melvin Ahrens: "Alcohol."

Emma Benson: "Are you interested in sports."
Ethel Thierrien: "Oh, I just love to go out with them."

Frank Covey told the following to the Ancient History class while giving a special topic:—"Jacob had two sons, which were twins, only Isaac was older than his brother."

Miss Jordan: (Commercial Law) "What is a mutual mistake?"
Clayton Krien: "When both parties make a mistake."
Miss Jordan: "Give an example."
Clayton: "Marriage."

Senior to Freshman: "What are you working so hard for?"
Freshman: "To get a head."
Senior: "Everybody knows you need one."

Miss Frankle: (Ancient History) "Alice, why did the Athenians lose in the battle against the Spartans?"
Alice Hunt: "Because they both couldn't win."

Miss Anderson: "What is ratio?"
Gordon Baldwin: "Proportion."
Miss A.: "What is proportion."
Gordon: "Ratio."
Miss A.: "Very well, what is ratio and proportion?"
Gordon: "Teacher, I can only answer one question at a time."

'Pa Puffpaff's Lament

I sent my boy to High School—
It cost a lot of jack.
There didn't seem to be much change—
I got a "quarter-back."

Miss Frankle: "Why are the Middle Ages known as the Dark Ages?"
Fred Hecker: "Because there were so many knights then."

Mike at the Junior Class Play: "All ready? Run up the curtain."
Mr. Roberts: "Say! What do you think I am, a squirrel?"

Waldron Seagreen: "There must be some mistake in my examination marking. don't think I deserve an absolute zero."
Miss Frankle: "Neither do I; but it is the lowest mark I am allowed to give."

Miss Bell had written 92.7 on the blackboard, and to show the effect of multiplying by ten, rubbed out the decimal point. She then turned to the class and said: "Now, Tessie, where is the decimal point?"
"On the eraser, Miss," Tessie replied.

"What is your favorite book?"
"My bank book; but even that is lacking in interest these days."

Raymond Gehl: "What was the safest bet ever made?"
Joseph Zalesky: "I don't know."
Raymond: "The alphabet."

Forgot My Ticket

I WAS eleven years old. In the day time I attended grade school, and after school I was errand boy for a neighboring doctor. One night after school, in the spring of the year, I was busy dusting the doctor's office, when he looked at me with a broad smile on his face, and said to me jokingly that he had purchased two tickets to the Senior Class play, which was to be given a week later. He added that if I would take a girl to the play he would give me the tickets. I immediately told him I would do so, much to his surprise, and then I hurried and finished my work.

I was too young to have what you might call a "steady," but there was a girl in my grade that I was rather sweet on, and I could hardly wait till morning came so that I could ask her. At last the new day dawned, and it wasn't far from school time because I was going earlier than usual this morning so that I could ask her before school started. On my arrival at the school I found her already there, but now my boldness began to fade and I was a little shy about asking her. Finally I got up pluck enough, and she gladly accepted my invitation.

After what seemed to me an eternity, the night of the play came, and we started off together. It was the first date either one of us had ever had, and to her, I must have seemed terribly stupid, for I let her do all the talking. For some reason or other words seemed to fail me, and I was speechless. In the meantime we had reached the theatre and upon entering, much to my embarrassment, I found I that I had forgotten my tickets. I felt in all of my pockets for the second time but, no, they were not there, I had left them home, and to add to my mortification I did not have a single penny with me. Just at that moment, the usher, a very good friend of mine, noticing I was very much fussed, quietly asked me what my trouble was. I could feel myself blushing behind the ears when I told him I had forgotten my tickets, and didn't have any money. He looked at me and laughed, and then said, "That's all right, go on in and I'll pay for your tickets." I thanked him with all my heart for saving me from the most embarrassing position I had ever been in. From that time on I never forgot my ticket.

"I believe in laying up for a rainy day," remarked a pretty, shapely, young damsel.

"I suppose that's why you bought those lavender silk stockings last week," replied her friend.

Pete went to Crystal Lake one day last summer and fished for nine hours without getting a bite. When he got back to town he went over to the Sanitary Market and selecting a fine big bullhead, said: "Throw this at me, so I can tell the fellows I caught it."

A Skin Business

Jack: "I hear that owing to the shortage of leather, they are making foot wear out of skins of all kinds."

Puffy: "All kinds? What about banana skins?"

Jack: "Oh, they make slippers out of them."

"I hid a five-dollar bill in this dictionary yesterday and I can't find it anywhere," said Edwin Hemb.

"You'd better look among the V's," said Clarke.

"Why did they make the hand on the Statue of Liberty eleven inches long?" asked Fred.

"I don't know," answered Paul.

"Well, if they had made it twelve inches it would have been a foot," replied Fred.

One day Mary was told by her sister to wash the windows. She washed them all clean in the inside, but never touched them on the outside. She was asked why she had omitted washing the outside, and said:

"I cleaned them inside so we could look out, but left them dirty outside so folks couldn't look in."

In gym class one day Helen D. asked: "Shall I mark time with my feet?"
Miss Vogt: "Did you ever hear of marking time with your hands?"
Helen D.: "Yes ma'am, clocks do it."

The Humiliating Side of Life

FOR THREE days and three nights I had been exceedingly excited over an invitation received from the mother of an old playmate of mine. Dick's folks had moved down from Canada and possessed the wealthiest estate in our valley. Dick and I had gone to high school together and when he had been sent to Yale, I had become an insignificant country schoolmarm. It had been three years since I had seen him, for he spent his summers in Canada, where his folks went as soon as warm weather came. I had heard from him occasionally, but his letters were college letters, not personal at all. At first I missed him terribly, I thought, but after all, I believe I missed the moonlight rides in his roadster and not Dick.

Now he was coming home and for a surprising welcome his invalid mother had asked a few of his old playmates over to dinner. Because he was really going to be here, my interest in him began to grow as it had grown once before. I picked my prettiest gown from my wardrobe, and determined to make an impression on the home comer. His companionship would mean a whirl of good times through the summer months and that was what I most desired.

The evening came, and found the guests clustered about on Dick's veranda, happy beyond measure. On the way to dinner, Dick managed to walk at my side, and we sat together at the table. How pretty, the background of our pictures; how charming, the table; how happy, the guests, how flushed, my cheeks! I thought I was experiencing real happiness for the first time. At the side of our plates were fresh linen napkins. How daintly I took mine up; how sweetly I smiled at Dick; how well satisfied I was with my appearance, my poise.

Directly across the table sat Babs. She, too, was extremely happy. Of course she was, for her fiance was also present. Bab's smiles widened, she chuckled; everyone smiled, everyone chuckled, while I looked wonderingly about for the joke, in vain. I had expected Dick to come to my rescue; he did, indeed he did. Suppressing his merriment somewhat, he put out his hand and with due pompousness jerked from me my napkin which like a two year old I had deftly tucked under my chin.

My beautiful blush turned to a conspicuous crimson. Embarrassed, I endured the teasing comments throughout the meal, in nervous silence; the thought of the brilliant impression I was making, slipping into the background.

Locked In

THE FIRE escape, when I was in the grade school, had always been a point of interest and to go down it had forever been my wildest desire. As luck would have it, however, at the time of a fire drill I always happened to be on the ground floor and then of course there was no necessity for using that emergency exit.

On a fresh spring day when the very air seemed to put the "do and dare" into my veins, I stood on the platform leading to the escape and the door of it was opened temptingly before me. All of a sudden my wild desire multiplied and tripled till I found myself whirling around the eight curves the cylinder boasted of. Little meditation had I given to the time of day though I knew it must be surprisingly near one fifteen; little had I guessed that the slide had just been waxed; and still less had I remembered that the door at the bottom had been locked to keep the smaller children from it, till with a thud my none too slim body crashed clamorously against it, and the door remained fast at the lock.

Recovering from my painful shock, I stood up aided by the wall, for I was still dizzy from my whirl so like that noted "Descent into the Maelstrom," and found to my amazement my white skirt absolutely unpresentable. I looked around me hopelessly and found my situation one which there was seemingly no way out. Onward and upward was to be my motto, if I should succeed not only in life but in emerging from my cylindrical trap. Time after time I succeeded in reaching the first curve, once I reached the second, but always I went back to where I started from. While resting from my efforts, I heard the tardy bell peal out. I renewed by exertions, reached the third curve, slipped and fell the rest of the way down, bumping my head and shoulders with such force upon the door that either the door never was locked, or if it was, I landed with such force that the lock gave way and I found myself prone on the cement sidewalk directly in view of all, who at that moment were reciting the lesson I had likewise prepared. Before this time I had experienced the situation of being "locked out" but never before had I been "locked in" and never again do I want to be—especially in a fire escape.

An Unprepared Recitation

RELUCTANTLY go to the Latin class with my lesson half prepared wondering and debating whether or not I'll be called upon to translate.

Just as I have reached my seat, before opening my book, I am called upon to answer about a previous day's assignment. I answer saying that the Germans cultivated the land of the Gauls, instead of saying the Germans wanted the culture of the Gauls. Imagine my embarrassment when all the others laugh and I receive a brief sarcastic rebuke from the teacher. While others are reading I very cautiously glance at the foot notes of the day's lesson. Suddenly and unexpectedly, I am called upon to read the last line of yesterday's lesson and I proceed mumbling in jerks that remind one of the sound of a freight train at night. The questions asked me about constructions, I succeed in answering fairly well. Noticing that all seem to be getting a second chance at reading, I shyly glance at the clock rejoicing that there are but five minutes left for the day's Latin period. While thinking about the time, I am called upon for the last short but difficult sentence of the assignment. I am as if struck by a bullet. I nervously proceed to translate a few words just in the order they appear, not taking heed to the construction. I have just mentioned the object and its modifiers when the bell rings for dismissal. I close my book joyfully but do not get out of the work, for the teacher urges me to proceed. With my head lowered and face and neck red with humiliation, I am forced with much gasping, mumbling, blustering and blurting, to confess not being prepared. The classes pass, and without looking at anyone, I dejectedly hurry out of the room.

The Opening of the Baseball Season

THE GAME opened with Molasses at the stick, Smallpox was catching. Cigar was in the box and had plenty of Smoke. Horn was playing first base and Fiddle was playing second, Corn was in the field. Apple was umpire. When Ax came to bat, he chopped one and Cigar let Cake walk and Sawdust filled the bags. Song made a hit and Twenty made a score. Every foot of ground kicked and they said Apple was rotten. Balloon started to pitch but went up in the air. Then Cherry tried it but was wild. When Spider caught the fly, the crowd cheered. Needle tried to Umpire. He was sharp enough but only had one eye. Ice kept cool until he was hit by a pitched ball then you should have heard Ice Cream. Cabbage had a good head and kept quiet. Grass covered lots of ground in the field. Organ refused to play. Hornit stung the ball but it fell in the hands of Clock. Bread loafed around until they put him out. In the fifth inning Wind blowed around what he could do, and Hammer began to knock, then the trees began to leave. Knife was put out for cutting first base. The crowd roasted Peanut all through the game, and everybody kicked when the put Light out. Then Meat was put out at the plate. The score was 1 to 0 and the game was over. Door said if he had pitched he would have shut them out. There was a lot of betting on the game and Soap cleaned up, but Egg went broke.

Maybe Glasses Would Help

Cop: "Can't you look where yer going?"
Drunken Man: "Yes, but I can't go where I'm looking."

"Are you there?"
"Who are you please?"
"Watt."
"What's your name?"
"Watt's my name."
"Yeh, what's your name?"
"My name is John Watt."
"John what?"
"Yes!"
"I'll be around to see you this afterroon."
"All right, are you Jones?"
"No, I'm Knott."
"Will you tell me your name then?"
"Will Knott."
"Why not?"
"My name is Knott."
"Not what?"
Blank, crash, wrrr, and so forth.

Like Unto a Barrel

A fat man could not help laughing one day at the ludicrous appearance of a very bow-legged man.

"By jingo, brother," he said, "you look as if you've been riding a barrel."

The bow-legged man smiled. "And you look as if you've swallowed one," he replied.

Mr. Stone and Mr. Wood were conversing on a street corner one windy day, when a pretty young lady passed.

Wood turned to Stone, Stone turned to Wood, and they both turned to rubber.

IRISH WIT WAS LACKING

Fond mother to son: "Pat, ye should have a trunk."
Pat: "What for, mother?"
Mother: "To put you clothes in, of course."
"And me go naked?" innocently questioned Pat.

Pat and Mike were watching some bricklayers at work one day and Pat asked: "Say, Mike, what is it that holds the bricks together?"
"Sure," said Mike, "that's aisy. It's the mortar."
"Niver a bit of it," said Pat. "That keeps them apart."

DID YOU EVER NOTICE

Clifford Hoffman with his hair combed—
Mrs. Landis chewing gum in class—
Miss Andrews riding a bicycle—
Walter Haertel with his girl—
"Red" Krien's black hair—
NEITHER DID WE.

Her has went.
Her has gone.
Her has left I all alone.
Can her never come to me?
Must I always go to she?
It can never was.

MODERN

"Mother, may I go out tonight?"
"No my dear son, Bill,
Father and I go out tonight.
You'll have to tend the still."

TAKE EXERCISE

There are plenty of dumb bells in the Freshman class.

She: "I dreamed about you last night."
He (eagerly): "What was it, dear?"
She: "I dreamed you were a flower?"
He: "Oh thrills."
She: "Yes, you were a blooming idiot."

Miss Frankle to Frances Sutfin, (after a hard question by the latter): "Don't show your ignorance." Ow!

Mr. Stenger: "Oscar, what is your name, Oscar or Ernest?"
"And are you college bred?"
"Oh, yes; I had a four-year's loaf."

AFTER OPEN HOUSE

First Student: "Does Pete dance well?"
Second Student: "Yes, he seems to have the right idea in his feet."
Third Student: "I guess that's where he has most of his ideas."

Raymond Gehl (In chemistry): "A drop of this acid on a dog's tongue will kill a man."

Mr. Kribbs: "Name another kind of mold."
Zaeske: "Well, there is the little brown spot you've got on the back of your neck."

REALLY

Mrs. Landis (English III): "The dog was just a puppy when he was born——."

Miss Bell: "Give a word with the same meaning as variety."
Freshman: "Hash."

Captain: "All is lost! We cannot save the ship."
Moses: "Do you hear what he says, Ikey, the ship is going to sink."
Ikey: "Well, let it sink. Vat do ve care? We don't own it."

The signs in hotels which read: "Have you left anything?" should read: "Have you anything left?"

Hotel Manager: (to sleeping occupant in room): "Wake up!" Wake up! The hotel is on fire."
Voice within: "Well what in blazes are you waking me up for? I'm no fireman."

God gives us brains, but the devil makes us use them. (Oh no, I don't mean the teachers.)

QUITE A HUSKY FOWL

'Twas Pat's first football match. He dashed here and there, running everywhere and in every one's way. While in the midst of the battle, he got a nasty kick in the head. rendering him unconscious.
"Who-who, kicked me?" Pat spluttered, upon "coming to."
"It's all right," replied the referee, "it was a foul."
"A foul! Be Jabers," Pat exploded. "What if it had been a mule?"

THINGS TO WORRY ABOUT

Buck Dahn gained 3 lbs. in the last 11 years.
Miss Jordan is going to get married—eventually.
Marie Lueck is going to stop studying—when?
Ziggy is going to start studying.
Rose Kutzleb is getting fat.

Calendar 1922-1923

Sept. 18—First day of school. Carpenters still working.

Sept. 23—Juniors have first picnic of the year.

Oct. 13—Friday the thirteenth. How lucky! Exams.

Oct. 16—Junior Class Play cast is announced.

Oct. 17—Sophomores have class picnic.

Oct. 19—Pou Wow for Wheaton football game.
Stenger leads cheering.
Junior's first class play practice.
Senior class had picnic at Gibson's Woods.

Oct. 20—Pep meeting.
Marie Henning receives box of candy for the largest sale of season football tickets. Nobody's mouth waters. Oh, no.

Oct. 23—Kenneth Hoffman scores our first bad explosion in Chemistry. No one injured; everyone scared.

Oct. 25—Juniors hold candy sale. Home made. Miss Andrews warns us again as she has for the past two weeks that an the 31st of the month book rent advances from $2.50 to $2.75.

Oct. 28—Lost game with Sycamore, 3-0. Favor of winner. Second Team tied.

Oct. 31—Hallowe'en. Scenery and curtains for stage arrive.
First meeting for whisperers this year, held at 4:15.

Nov. 7—General clean up day. Boys tackle the grounds; girls, the windows. Everyone prepares for Dedication of School.
Practice Community singing led by Guy Hall.

Nov. 8—Seniors and O-Henry Club are instructed on how to pilot the visitors on Dedication Evening.
Seniors receive their rings. They wait a long, long time for them. Sent C. O. D.

Nov. 9—Decoration for Dedication Evening.

Nov. 14—Miss Brown announced that the marks of her Chemistry Exam papers range from 33-65.

Nov. 16—Mr. Stenger announces the organization of the "All American Football Team."

Nov. 20—Clark Poole joins the Junior Class.

Nov. 21—Our first snowfall. Jack Rath hurries home at 3:30 to get out his sled.

Nov. 27—The Woman's Club sponsors the first movie in the new auditorium. "Batchelor Daddy."

Dec. 5—The Tri City Civic and Athletic Club puts on its first performance of "Potash and Perlmutter."

Dec. 5—Miss Frankle comes back after being leading lady.

Dec. 14—The Junior Play Cast shivers in its boots. Their "Passing of the Third Floor Back" is pulled off at 8:00. They're still learning their lines. After the success. Mike Melahn gets written inntructions on how to put a ladies cape on her.

Dec. 17—Dramatic Club prepares program for Friday before Christmas.

Dec. 20—Gladys Grace writes her letter to Santa Claus. She wants a dolly and a pair of skates.

Dec. 22—Miss Addie Bell leaves for Florida. Oh, that's where she spends her vacations!

Jan. 8—We come back to school. Everyone tells everyone else what they got from Santa Claus. Paul Russell and Senior Puffy, start the style in school of Shiek pants. Aren't they cute!

Jan. 9—Miss Andrews misses the 8 o'clock car from Elgin. She taxies to school. Juniors get their Class Play Pictures. Dahn says they're "some pictures!"

Jan. 10—Waldron Seagren asks for a date with Marie Lueck. She turns him down. This cruel, cruel world. Freshies have sleigh ride to Elgin. They see, "East is West."

Jan. 16—We have a one period program in the auditorium. Miss Andrews lectures on "Why are you in School" Freshies render a song or two.

Jan. 19—Exams. Two cars left at 6:00 for Batavia. We were out to win, but we lost.

Jan. 23—O Henry Banquet.

Jan. 26—Ruth Davidson does a plate crashing act in the Domestic Theatre.

Jan. 27—No more eating in the furnace room.

Jan. 29—Miss Holt is on the missing list. Girls start their tournament.

Feb. 14—Grace Hall has lost twenty pounds. You can just notice it. Miss Brown is still on the sick list.

Feb. 12—Olin Cantwell and Wendel Griffith visit school. We have a speaker. We sing "America the Beautiful" around the flag hoisted for the first time on the new staff.

Feb. 13—Miss Irene Rhodes visits school.

Feb. 23—Pep meeting for Geneva game. Legions, High School Majors and High School Minors are victorious over Geneva. All in one night.

Feb. 26—Carl Schmidt's seat in the third row from the windows is forever deprived of his weight. Carl quits school.

Mar. 1—Gladys Grace receives her American Penman Diploma. Crowds begin to arrive from out of town for the first game of the tournament. First game at 3:15 Dundee wins over Belvidere.

Mar. 2—Dundee loses to Elgin. To Semeny, rather.

Mar. 3—Elburn loses to Elgin—everyone in Dundee is downhearted. Elgin wins over Crystal Lake.

Mar. 5—Miss Brown comes back after three weeks illness. Practice begins for Operetta.

Mar. 9—We hear financial reports on Basket Ball season and Tournament. Mr. Schlaifer announces "Rough Neck Day" will be on April 6th. Senior Class sponsors another movie. Lights go out. Too bad.

Mar. 11—March comes in like a lion and goes out like a lamb. "Snow and blizzard." Algonquin bus arrives late. No street car service, but Miss Andrews takes the train. Quo Vadis sponsored by Ancient History Class.

Mar. 20—Ray Gehl takes a mud bath.

Mar. 23—Glee Clubs put on "Treasure Hunters." Great Success. All but the pictures.

YOUR FUTURE---Ambition, Thrift, Saving

First bear in mind Earning "WITHOUT SAVING" means no headway, TIME LOST.
When you get your pay check FIRST OF ALL set aside 10% and place in your SAVINGS ACCOUNT at YOUR BANK, watch it GROW which means helping you earn.
As you go through life you will find IT EVERYBODY'S business to GET YOUR MONEY, NOT so with a BANK they make it a business to help you keep it.

Ask for a BLUE BOOK

"Averill's Budget System," this little book will help you save money, we will give you one FREE of charge "PROVIDED you agree to use it."
BEAR in MIND YOUNG MAN and YOUNG WOMAN, your responsibilities are much less now than they will be in later years, therefore MORE than 10% should be set aside from your earnings, "NEVER LESS" and again bear in mind the saving habit once acquired will likely be your fixed habit during life, a MOST VALUABLE ASSET

Small town girl, just home from college and displaying her new silk gown—"Isn't this one perfectly gorgeous. Just think it came from a poor, little insignificant worm!"

Hardworking father: "Yes, darn it, and I'm that worm!"

Miss Brown to a class in Chemistry: "Well, the questions for the final exam. are in the hands of the printers. Has anyone any question to ask regarding the exam?" A moment's silence.

Mike Melahn: "Yes, Miss Brown. What is the name of the printer?"

Our Patrons' Satisfaction

"A satisfied customer is the best advertising." That is a sound business principle and it has been our aim to insure our patrons' satisfaction at all times by always giving them their money's worth in merchandise.

We sell only good quality merchandise. Seconds and inferior grades never creep into our stocks. That is why our patrons are satisfied. Unsolicited, they tell us of their satisfaction, and they tell their friends — word of mouth recommendation by the people we serve.

And we do something else besides sell good merchandise. We maintain low prices. This we can do because we buy for 371 stores and sell only for cash.
